

Privacy Policy

Science for High School understands that the privacy of our users is extremely important. We do not sell, trade or otherwise transfer any personally identifiable information collected on the website to outside parties.

Collected Information

Like many other websites, Science for High School makes use of access log files. The information inside these files include internet protocol addresses (IP), type of browser, internet service provider (ISP), date/time stamp, referring/exit pages, and a number of clicks to analyze trends, administer the site, track user's movement around the site, and gather demographic information and other such information that are not linked to any information that is personally identifiable.

We collect personally identifiable information from you when you contact us through our online contact forms. You may be asked to enter you name, email address, mailing address and phone number, and other personally identifiable information. You may, however is Science for High School anonymously by signing in as "Guest".

Cookies

Cookies are small files that a site or its service provider transfers to your computer's hard drive through your web browser (if you allow) that enables the site's (or service provider's) systems to recognize your browser and capture and remember certain information. We use cookies to help us remember and process orders and requests and to understand and save your preferences for future visits.

If you desire, you can have your computer warn you each time a cookie is being sent. You can also set your computer to disable all cookies (on your browser settings). The help section and the websites of most browsers provide instructions on how to block or disable cookies. Like most websites, if you do turn off the cookies, some of our services may not function properly.

How We Use Your Information

We could use the information we collect to:

- a) To personalize your experience.

Your information helps us to better respond to your individual needs.

- b) To improve our website.

We continually strive to improve what we offer on our website based on the information we receive from you.

- c) To improve customer service

The information we acquire from you helps us to respond more effectively to your customer service requests and any needs you may have.

- d) To process transactions

We will not sell any of your information, nor transfer it, not give it to any other company or entity for any reason whatsoever without your consent.

- e) To send an email occasionally

The email address you provide for your order will only be used to send you information and updates regarding and pertaining to your order or service.

Distribution of Information

Science for High School does not sell, trade, or give any personally identifiable information collected on the website to outside parties. We may release your information when we believe it is appropriate to comply with the law, enforce our site policies, or protect our rights or other's rights, property or safety.

Third Party Links

Sometimes, at our discretion, we may include or offer third party products or services on our website. These third party sites have their own independent privacy policies, separate from ours. We therefore have no responsibility or liability for the content and activities of these linked sites. We do seek to protect the integrity of our site so we do welcome any feedback about these third party sites.

Children's Online Privacy Protection Act Compliance

We do not collect any information from anyone under the age of 13 years. Science for High School website, products and services are all directed to people who are older than 13 years old.

Your Consent

By using Science for High School's website, you consent to our online Privacy Policy and Terms of Use.

Changes to Our Privacy Policy

We reserve the right to change and modify our policy at any time. If we modify the Privacy Policy, those changes are effective immediately and will be posted to these pages.

Contacting Us

If you have any questions regarding this Privacy Policy, you may contact us via email or call (336) 739-0236